HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter confine it to the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets,
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. E. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

DESPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 13.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The United States steamer Algonquin, previously reported sold by the U. S. Government to Hayti, is to be delivered at the Brooklyn Navy Yard to-morrow. She will be put under command of the United States Navy detailed for that purpose, and will sail for Port au Prince about the end of the week.

Some time ago a treasury detective obtained the clue to the lithographing stone from which the counterfeit five dollar greenbacks that have been extensively circulated south and southwest were struck, and he has at last obtained possession of it. It is estimated that from this stone alone half a million dollars in spurious notes have been printed. Detectives have also obtained possession of a stone from which counterfeit five dollar bills on Jewett National Bank, Jewett, Connecticut, so extensively circulated a few months ago, were printed. The principals to this extensive gang of counterfeiters are now in custody, but their names are withheld for the present, as their publication would probably prevent the arrest of their accomplices.

Harangue by Pendleton.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—A large number of Pendleton's friends called at his residence on their way from the fair yesterday, and importuned him for a speech. He bagged off, but finally consented and spoke for an hour, supported on a crutch. Among other things he said, "I cannot agree with Gov. Hayes that all the vexed questions of our national politics are wisely and happily settled; that the great questions of liberty, Union, reconstruction have been made safe. I cannot agree that reenactment, economy and honesty have been introduced into the management of the Federal expenditures; that the debt has been decreased and is in course of decreasing, as he states it. That the burdens of taxation have been reduced and their weight upon the people lightened I agree, but sound judgment and freedom from bad influences have been brought to exercise an immense power over the Secretary of the Treasury. That business is active, that vigor and industry are bountifully rewarded, that employment is abundant and fairly compensated, that commerce and prospect thereof are improved, I cannot, as seriously as does our worthy Governor, admit, nor can I turn my face from all questions of Federal politics and look only at State affairs. It ought to be, if it were not, the rule, that deference for the consolidation of State affairs were left to State management. If Federal affairs were kept within the scope of the constitution it would be so, but I cannot pretend to believe what I know to be false. I cannot say the Union is restored when Virginia, Mississippi and Texas are under military government; when justice is administered by the drawn sword of the court martial; or that the constitution is maintained when we know the Supreme Court is only waiting an opportunity to declare the reconstruction acts unconstitutional. I oppose the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment because it is a material radical change of our Government and destroys the relations between the State and the Federal Union which the constitution established in the government of them, and takes away from the States, without their consent, that essential attribute of self-government, the right to determine who shall exercise the right of suffrage, and because it was intended to and will introduce negro suffrage in Ohio against the will of the people. Two years ago the people of Ohio, without distinction of party, by a large majority, refused to amend the State constitution, after full argument and full consideration of negro suffrage. I see no reason to believe that they have changed their opinion on the subject of its adoption; and because, by the strongest implication, the Union confers, not upon Congress but ourselves, on the States, the right to exclude from the ballot persons not of our own, the white race, and not because of their nativity, creed, want of education or poverty, and prohibits the exclusion of another race only. If the interpretation of Senator Morton and Senator Howard be correct, under this amendment other States may exclude all Catholic and Protestant or poor men from enjoying the suffrage in Ohio; but not the negro or Mongolian. Object to its adoption, because it is part and parcel of a scheme to flood the country with a forced importation of an immense number of Chinese coolies and repeat, in a more difficult form, the evil of government on questions which have unhappily divided our people.

Pendleton then proceeded to attack the Secretary of the Treasury for keeping so much money in the treasury vaults, and for hoarding an enormous amount each month. He said: With great parade he sells six or nine millions, and with the proceeds buys bonds, giving 2c per cent. above par. They are now redeemable on their face by law. The holders give legal tenders for them when the legal tenders were worth not more than half what they now are. The man who has money becomes much richer. The system is radically unjust. The debt is contracted on an expended currency and should be paid the same in value as the dollar which was donated. The whole policy of the administration should be revised. Pay the debt, pay it honestly according to the contract, pay in money as valuable as that received for it. Abolish the National bank system, pay off the bonds on which they were bought, and, save the yearly interest, use every appliance of economy and management to advantage. This is the policy. When the debt is paid, when the taxes are reduced, when $75,000,000 will suffice for the government expenses, when all property is subjected to a just rule of taxation, then, if it be advisable, contract the currency and resume specie payments.

Funeral of Senator Fessenden.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The Treasury is closed for Fessenden's funeral.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12.—The funeral of Senator Fessenden took place at the First Parish Unitarian Church yesterday. Rev. Mr. Bailey, the Pastor, officiating, assisted by Dr. Carruthers. The edifice was thronged, the crowd filling the vestibule and reaching into the street. The procession was very long. The body was buried at the Western cemetery. The city bells tolled while the procession moved through the city, and the buildings were draped in mourning, flags at half mast, and public offices closed.

Cincinnati Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the Catholics to-night it was arranged to raise funds to send Archbishop Purcell to the Ecumenical Council at Rome.

Full arrangements have been made for the celebration of Humboldt's centennial birthday. The exercises will consist of a salute of 100 guns, speeches at the rink, a banquet, etc.

Twenty Protestant ministers to-day devoted the whole or part of their sermons to the subject of the exclusion of the Bible from the public schools. Protests to the school board, against its exclusion were made in every Protestant church.

Cuban Affairs.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—A Southern gentleman, who is visiting Cuba for the purpose of ascertaining the state of affairs for himself and friends, writes from Cardenas under date of September 1st, that the news of recent successes of the Cubans near Puerto Principe, Sagua La Grande and Las Tunas, has given an impetus and life to the patriot cause which will prove irresistible. The enthusiasm of Cubans knows no bounds. They are rising en masse and flocking to the liberal army by hundreds. The Spanish openly assert that the revolution will be successful, that the Spanish force is almost destroyed and that Spain cannot send sufficient reinforcements to regain the position lost by the late battles. It is reported that the Cubans in these engagements fought with great desperation and daring, showing a discipline equal to that of regular troops. The Spanish troops are everywhere demoralized, and officers have no confidence in their soldiers. Many regulars are known to sympathize with the Cubans and Revolutionists, honestly believing that they will succeed and the independence of Cuba be attained. Outrages are perpetrated upon inoffensive and helpless people by the volunteers of a most revolting character, and exceed even those perpetrated by Indians on the frontier of the United States. Everywhere the evidences of these outrages can be seen, buildings burned, churches destroyed and hundreds of homeless, starving wanderers. The once beautiful and luxuriant country stands now a barren waste. Should the war be prolonged six months, it will be almost uninhabited. Now, along the eastern coast of the island, people are on the very verge of starvation and dying by hundreds from disease, superinduced by want.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—P. S. Fisk, widely known throughout the country from his connection with the press business, died yesterday.

Miscellaneous.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—The shirt factory of Welsker & Smith, on Front street, was burned this morning, with a heavy loss.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 12.—The Annual M. E. Conference was in session here yesterday, and voted down the lay delegation by a vote of 60 to 38.

PLYMOUTH, Pa., Sept 12. The appropriations for the relief of the Avondale sufferers, since they began here, reach $33,000.

MEMPHIS, Sept 12.—Col. C. S. Price, clerk in the Commercial Hotel, was accidental shot and killed by one of the guests this morning.

LEAVENWORTH, Sept. 12.—Yesterday the first passenger train passed over the Leavenworth, Atchison and Northwestern Railroad, carrying a large excursion party both ways.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—The Quincey, Alton and St. Louis Railroad Co. was organized at Quincey, yesterday.

The Governor of Nevada will appoint delegates to the National Capital Convention and be present himself if possible.

John H. Robb, of this city, has brought suit against his father, Chas. Robb, to compel him to render an accounut of his trusteeship of an estate left his children, and valued at half a million.

W. J. Hulbin, of San Francisco, arrived this morning en route for Cincinnati to make final arrangements with the Red Stocking Base Ball Club, to visit San Francisco.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 12.—John H. Grim shot and killed James Shively this morning. Grim surrendered himself.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A meeting of Americans was held at London yesterday. Resolutions were unanimously adopted thanking Prince Napoleon for his recent speech, especially that passage in reference to the advantages of Democratic Government.

The excitement with regard to Mrs. Stowe's article on Lord Byron does not abate. The newspapers still teem with correspondence on the subject. A letter in the News thanks the author for telling the truth, and says Mrs. Stowe has unveiled a secret carefully guarded, and restored virtue and vice to their proper position. By her courage there is one less imposture in the world. Wentworth writes an article in the Pall Mall Gazette saying that Lady Byron's statements in her own hand writing do not contain an accusation so grave as Mrs. Stowe's, and that Mrs. Stowe's story is inconsistent with Lady Byron's letter. Wentworth concludes the letter with the following words: "I cannot allow that Mrs. Stowe's statements are substantially correct."

The statistical congress has opened its session here. Samuel B. Ruggles, of New York, and other deputies have arrived.

The London News says it is rumored that the proposition for the purchase of Cuba has found a powerful friend in the Spanish administration. If the rebellion is suppressed it is difficult to perceive how a change can be effected amid a distant and subjugated population. The interests of England and France in the West Indies are scarcely inferior to those of the United States, and they will have their say before the settlement is regarded as final.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Lambert's polar expedition is unable to start for want of funds.

It is reported here that Gen. Article 2. The ministers are dependent on the Emperor. They deliberate under his presidency and are responsible, but not only be impeached by the Senate.

Article 3. The ministers may be members of either chamber and have free access to and the right to speak in both.

Article 4. The sittings of the Senate are open to the public, but on demand of five members the Senate may go into secret session.

Article 5. The Senate after pointing out modifications in a bill, may send it back for further consideration to the Corps Legislatif.

Orders de jure militaire can be adopted but must be referred to the bureau as a matter of rights whenever the government demands it. The bureau will then appoint a commission to consider the matter, on whose report the corps will decide whether to accept or reject the vote.

Article 8. No amendment of a bill can be discussed unless it has been previously sent to the committee which considered the bill, and also communicated it to the government. If the government and committee disagree on an amendment, a council of state shall pronounce its opinion, but the final decision rests with the Corps Legislatif.

Article 9. Budgets are presented and voted by chapters and articles.

Article 10. All modifications in the customs or postal tariffs made through treaties with foreign nations, will require a law to make them binding.

Article 11. Relations of the Emperor and the Senate and Corps Legislatif are changed only in so far as they are modified by the Senatus Consultum. Their forms, intercourse will be settled here after by Imperial decree.

Article 12. Certain articles of the Constitution inconsistent with the above provisions are abrogated.

Uncontroverted Facts

We have frequently asked the Democratic papers of Oregon to state what privileges the Chinese now have in Oregon which they did not possess when the Democratic party ruled the State and the nation They do not respond They cannot tell It is an incontrovertible fact that the Chinaman in this country now has precisely the status which was given him by the Democratic party The Republicans have not conferred on him a single additional right or privilege Nor will the pending treaty confer on him any additional right that can be of value to him or a matter of concern to our people Under treaties made in Democratic times the Chinese had the right to come here and did come here to travel to trade and to reside, subject to our laws and protected by them This right they now possess and they possess no other The Democratic treaty of 1858 stipulated that there shall be peace and friendship between the people of the two countries the people shall not insult or oppress each other for trifling causes By this treaty the Chinese were guaranteed precisely the same privileges in this country which other foreigners enjoy, and when an attempt was made to impose a special tax on them in California in 1862, the Supreme Court of that State then composed of Democratic judges declared that the act was inconsistent with the treaty and unconstitutional and contrary to the declared policy of the nation The Chinese therefore stood on precisely the same footing here with the subjects of other countries These rights were given them by the Democratic party, and the Republicans have neither enlarged nor abridged them. By the treaty now pending we shall secure more privileges in China than we before possessed, but the Chinese will have no more privileges here than they have been enjoying during the last ten years The present treaty, when it declares that "Chinese subjects residing in the United States shall enjoy the same privileges, immunities and exemptions in respect to travel or residence as may be enjoyed by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nations" merely asserts for the Chinese in this country rights which they had already been enjoying for years Every one knows that they have long possessed full privileges in respect to travel and residence in the United States Ever since they began to come to this country they have had a right to travel in it where they pleased and reside where they chose The uproar Democrats are now making about them coming here is the most absurd thing in the world They allowed them to come at the offstar and put them on a footing with other foreigners among us so far as rights and privileges of foreigners are concerned These are facts which may safely challenge contradiction or refutation.

Something of a Difference

The Chicago Times, the leading Democratic paper of "the West," propounds an inquiry which we would like to see frankly answered by some adherent of the same faith in Oregon

If the Democracy of the North shall adhere to the dead issues of the past, how can the Democratic party remain a national organization, since the whole body of the Southern white people have abandoned the dead issues, and accepted the situation as it is?

The question, remarks the New York Times, is apposite and significant. The Democratic party of the North is at variance with the majority of those who have heretofore constituted the Democratic party of the South —judging of both by their former action. Changes that are accepted at the South are made a subject of contention in Ohio and Pennsylvania What Packer and Pendleton and the conventions that nominated them, denounced as intolerable, has been quietly accepted by their old friends in Virginia and Mississippi. Negro suffrage and other measures annexed to reconstruction by which the Southern people, who experience their operations, have declared their readiness to abide, are made vital issues by Northern Democrats, who suffer nothing from their effects The questions which furnish pretexts for agitation in these latitudes, and which are always paraded as in the interest of the South, are discarded as of no further moment by the people of that section.

With what propriety can that party claim to be national which in one locality denounces and threatens to overthrow what in another locality its own friends accept and promise to sustain? This, in effect, is the question of the Chicago Times and it is justified by circumstances.

In General.

The Democratic papers up the valley are showing their courtesy and culture by vilifying, blackguarding and abusing Gov Seward and Vice President Colfax As might be expected from his well known character, Beriah Brown takes the lead in this business We are glad to believe that there are Democrats of respectability and decency who condemn the course of these blackguard organs of their party.

Another instance of the light vote polled in California in the late election is seen in San Joaquin county The Democratic vote for members of the Legislature was 1,698 while Seymour's vote last fall was 1 867 The vote for Grant was 2,101, while the Republican vote in the recent election was but little more than 1,500 The falling off in the Republican vote of the county was therefore about 600 The Democrats did not gain any of these votes, they did not even get out the entire vote of their party Figures like these tell the story of Republican apathy and show why the election resulted as it did

The genius who undertook to do some brilliant financial writing in the Oregon City paper a week or two since, has discontinued his efforts in that direction He has probably found out that there was such a thing in the history of the the country as internal revenue long before the times of the Republican party and it may be that he has made other discoveries of an important character If so his well for the knowledge may save him the labor of other long articles like that he wrote on finance a short time ago As he has given up financial writing we may look for him to shine out in his next number, with the full blaze of his effulgent genius on the Chinese question

Referring to Senator Williams communication on the Chinese treaty published last week in the OREGONIAN the Salem Press declares that it was unnecessary to state that the treaty does not confer naturalization "Who ever heard, says the Press, of a treaty between this country and any other which did confer naturalization" Now that paper need not put on this air of wisdom Very many Democratic papers have asserted that the treaty would give the Chinese who might come to this country the right to make application for the privileges of citizenship and Senator Williams was only showing the old time pig headed Democracy that such was not the case It likes a deal of labor to hammer an idea into the head of the editor of the Press but when he once gets an inkling of it he becomes wonderfully wise and declares that he knew it all the time

The gatherer of dispatches for the Associated Press is surely entitled to the sympathy of his countrymen when affairs are so dull that he can find nothing to telegraph over land but a long harangue by a young Greek backs, at Cincinnati This is the same old speech which the great statesman of Ohio has been delivering for the last four years If it could produce no impression when first uttered and when its doctrines where novel it is not likely that it will produce any now when its doctrines are stale One of the issues settled by the people in the election of General Grant was the financial question Pendleton's doctrines were incorporated in the New York platform, and were utterly repudiated along with every other species of dishonesty and Copperheadism which that platform contained One feature of this speech, however is noticeable Pendleton is forced to confess that the taxes have been lightened, and that the debt is steadily decreasing Last year he would have it that the debt was increasing with frightful rapidity, and that the Republican party could never pay it A Republican administration is showing a different result A decrease of fifty millions in six months tells a different story. Pendleton can no longer even amuse the people of Ohio with his greenback propositions They understand the whole subject better than he does, and are a good deal more honest in their intentions

POLITICAL

Senator Fowler, of Tennessee, gives it as his opinion that ex President Andrew Johnson will not be elected to succeed him in the United States Senate

The St Louis Democrat of August 29 h, says that "a gentleman of that city recently received a letter from Chief Justice Chase in which he says I am out of all future political contests, and no one need be jealous of me hereafter."

A California paper says Senator Nye in his last speech at Sacramento said that the democracy having ridden the negro to death had now mounted the Chinaman They are shy, however, of the Digger Indian—too much "buck" about the aboriginee

In Contra Costa county (Cal) the rival candidates for Sheriff on the respective party tickets were brothers, one a Radical Republican and the other a decided Democrat, in the best standing. The Republican received a majority of 220 votes out of about 1,440

Thomas Selby, the Mayor elect of San Francisco, says he only accepted the nomination by the advice of his New York partner, who told him that he had no right to reject it, and he promises to give as much attention to the duties of the office as he gave to his private business

McCoppin in his folly sued the San Francisco Bulletin for libel, and the Bulletin set in to beat him for Mayor and did it! With all his sense McCoppin had not enough to know that a public man can be guilty of no greater folly than fighting an influential daily newspaper.

The Yreka Journal says The Democracy never had any idea of enfranchising the inferior races Oh, no!—especially since the Democratic treaty with Mexico granted suffrage, to the Mexican blacks of California, over one half Indian, known as "Greasers," most of whom are less qualified to vote intelligently than the negroes born in the Eastern States.

The Richmond Whig says We have declared time after time, and in the most emphatic and outspoken manner, that the General Assembly of Virginia will, as soon as possible after it is permitted to convene, proceed to the ratification of the amendment question We have never entertained a shadow of a doubt on the subject, and certainly could never have written a line or syllable suggesting a doubt.

A Southern journal suggests that the Constitution should be so amended as to make ex Presidents Senators of the United States at large for life The decadence of their usefulness and intellectual vigor consequent upon the inactive lives they feel compelled, by custom, to lead, it thinks good reason for making them a life charge upon the country This view of the case is not likely to strike the people very favorably so long as Pierce and Johnson are above ground, nor, from present indications in Tennessee, does the latter appear to be willing to trust his charges of meeting his old friend Butler in the Senate, to its adoption

A New York letter has the following:—The quarrel that I mentioned recently in the Democratic camp over the position of chairman of the National Committee, is increasing rather than otherwise Last night a dozen Democratic clubs in the city held meetings and expressed their opinions, some of them asking that Belmont should resign and others voting to sustain him and oppose the appointment of anybody else There will probably be a lively row over the matter before it is ended, and a regular or irregular split in the party is not impossible Quite a movement is being made for the appointment of John Quincy Adams as Chairman in place of Belmont and I understand that the Massachusetts Democrats are pushing him very earnestly

The Marysville Appeal, discussing the late election in California and its results, says "The Republican party of California has been in a demoralized condition since the nomination of Gorham and the election of Governor Haight It is true the State voted for Grant and Colfax, but the Congressional vote of the same election showed a majority against the Republicans During the last year it has been manifest that the Republican leaders were badly estranged The struggle between Senator Cole on one side, and Sargent Gorham and their adherents on the other, for supremacy at Washington, has been pressed with much vigor and bitterness * * The agitation of the Senatorial question was a silly movement and the leaders who exercised their wits and laid their traps must feel quite disgusted with their Don Quixotte battle with the winds

THE WEST

O'Meara quits the Idaho World and George Ainslie takes editorial charge of the paper

The recent election in Wyoming Territory for Delegate to Congress resulted in the election of S F Nuckolls—Dem crat—by 814 majority

The arrivals in California by the Pacific Railroad average about fifty per day or at the rate of over 1,200 per month—mostly from the extreme western States

Brigham Young has perfected an arrangement with the Union Pacific Railroad Company to take railroad iron as a working stock in payment for the amount due for grading There are said to be already shipped from New York

The Japanese Colony, near Hacienda (Cal) is said to be progressing in a most satisfactory manner The tea and mulberry plants are flourishing finely The remaining members of the colony 200 in number will soon arrive from Japan

The Marysville Appeal says that the civil engineers of both the California Pacific (Valley) and the California and Oregon Railroads are in that city, and engaged on work connected with the two roads The bridges for both railroads are to be so built to cross Feather river but a few miles apart

Almost daily says the Virginia Enterprise parties are arriving from White Pine The majority say that the mines are rich enough, but that it will take time to develop them Most of those returning are men who went out with a small amount of money and who were unable to stand a long siege in the way of waiting for the development of the mines

A correspondent of the New York Herald wants the truth of the Byron scandal to be settled by summoning the spirits of both Lord and Lady Byron from the summer land, and procuring their testimony

The New York Tribune says the charge made by Mrs Stowe against Byron and his sister was guardedly alluded to in the Temple For of June last and Mrs Stowe says she has evidence to support her statements

The New Orleans Picayune believes there is enough cotton growing to the South to make 6,000,000 bales but it fears there is not sufficient labor to secure that amount It looks forward hopefully to the introduction of the Chinese

Mrs Stowe has found a valliant champion in the brailiant and eccentric John Neal of Portland, who has, it is said, facts in his possession to corroborate her sentiments Mr Neal was present at Lord Byron's funeral and acquainted with his friends His reminiscences will soon appear in the public prints, and will form a fit sequel to his already published "Wandering Recollections

The Mobile Tribune says that the only man at the North with whose views the true Southern man coincides are those who during the war were called Copperheads, and that the true Democrat believes that the Reconstruction laws ought to be overthrown at the point of the Federal bayonet if necessary, and that the negro should be deprived of the right of suffrage, illegally conferred upon him

A Western correspondent reports that he recently heard an army officer tell another that a Lieutenant Smith had got into a scrape down at his regiment by being found lying drunk all over camp," and that on being asked what would be done with him, the officer replied "Oh, they've given him his choice to be court martialed or go on waiting orders" Upon which the correspondent supposes that Smith will now turn up as an Indian agent

It is now said that negotiations have been concluded, and only await the forms of a legal completion, for the construction of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Nicaragua. The constructing parties are a company of French capitalists and the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica, which jointly control the lower portion of the San Juan river through which the canal must reach the sea It thus appears that the pig headedness of the Columbians of Panama has lost to them forever the possession of one of the most important engineering enterprises ever conceived, and one which would have poured hundreds of millions of wealth into their territory While they have been haggling with the United States Commissioners and beating the bush for naught, their more enterprising and far seeing neighbors have caught the bird

A Richmond paper says that Mr Peabody's recent gift of $50 000 to General Lee's college at Lexington is likely to prove little more valuable than an undivided interest in an English chancery suit—upon so many doubtful contingencies does it rest It seems that the firm of Peabody & Co in 1855, held $35,000 worth of Virginia State bonds, which they sent over on the steamer Arctic for collection The steamer was lost at sea, with all on board, including, of course, the bonds In 1856 Mr Peabody memorialized the Legislature of Virginia for the payment of the $35 000, which was rejected It is this doubtful claim, with the interest accrued thereon, that has been presented to General Lee's college, but as the State has once repudiated the claim, it is doubtful if it will ever be allowed The object to which it will be appropriated may, however, be taken into consideration and its payment secured thereby

The Day of Atonement—The solemn day of the most holy day of the Hebrew year will commence this evening at sunset and will continue until evening at sunset The celebration of the evening and day will be as follows [illegible] Jerusalem school will open this evening in the synagogue on Yamhill street between Second and Third streets The service will be of a solemn character It was then on this day of the year on which the high priest entered the Holy of Holies there to make atonement for the sins of himself and the nation In the temple at Jerusalem this was allowed to be done but once a year but in the synagogue it is performed as often as there are Jews present The service is conducted always substituting for the word Jehovah the word Adonai which is translated in the English language Lord When the high priest entered the sanctuary of the temple he was habited in the pontifical robes which he kept locked in the most holy place were handed to him by the keeper of the sacred vestments with all solemnity and ceremony The high priest then entered the most holy place all prostrated themselves in silence and fell upon their faces exclaiming "Blessed be the name of his kingdom of happiness forever and ever" This entrance of the high priest into the most holy place was performed in the presence of the assembled congregation by the pilgrimage of the scapegoat into the wilderness and their confession into the world, of the sins of the people of Israel during the year previous to the day of atonement The scapegoat is an emblem of the sins of the world [illegible] The services on this day consist of the reading of the Pentateuch and Haftorahs and their explanation into the English language The Pentateuch is read in the synagogue on every Sabbath and holiday throughout the year The services on the day of atonement are of a most solemn character and many of the congregation will not partake of food during the day The services commence at 10 o'clock this morning and will continue until sunset

The Fast of Gedaliah will be observed on Thursday morning

Fire—A little before 1 am this morning the alarm of fire was given by the watchmen patrolling adjoining Burrell & Lee's brick on Front street When the fire was first discovered the fire in the upper rear of the building and the one adjoining it next to it on the north was well going in the interior and blazing out of the roofs Rushing up all the neighborhood quickly aroused the spectators with the belief that there was a big job on hand In a very short time, however, the hand engines were thrown into play with a will and the steamers soon followed suit By the greatest exertions of the firemen the progress of the flames was finally stayed, but not before the entire destruction of the upper stories of the building in which the fire first broke out, and serious injury to the lower story of the rear of the next building belonging to Mr. O Ridley was also injured, but not to so great an amount Grain stored in the lower stories was completely drenched with water which ran out on the sidewalk as if it were a river At this time the estimated Messrs Masters, Ridley and Burrell are the principal losers the latter having lost most of his household furniture and a portion of his stock of groceries, which were removed to the store of Mr Ridley for protection of property in the adjoining building The fire originated in the upper story of the building occupied by Mr McQuillan The fire department gave an excellent exhibition of their discipline and efficiency

THE DAY OF ATONEMENT.—The solemn celebration of the most holy day of the Hebrew year will commence this evening at sunset, and will continue until to-morrow evening at sunset. The celebration of the festival is enjoined in Leviticus 23: 26-32. The mode of its celebration while the Temple of Jerusalem stood was of a most solemn symbolic character. It was the only day in the year on which the High priest, and he alone, was allowed to enter the Holy of Holies, there to make expiation for himself, his family, his tribe and the nation. And it was on this occasion alone that he was allowed to pronounce the ineffable name of God, which to this day no religious Jew ever pronounces, always substituting for it another name, which is translated in the English Bible by Lord. When the pronunciation of the ineffable name is the High Priest in the most holy place was heard by the host of worshippers without—those in the temple courts, and all over the holy city—all prostrated themselves, kneeling down, and fell upon their faces, exclaiming: "Praised be the glory of his kingdom for ever and ever." That entrance of the high priest into the Holy of Holies symbolized the pilgrimage of the saints through life, and their entrance into the Most Holy, after leaving this world. This solemn idea is abolished by many observances and the liturgy of to-day.

The modern mode of observing this day is by devotion during the whole day and several hours of the preceding night; a strict fast and total abstinence from all (animal) gratifications during the whole of the time.

The confession of atonement and forgiveness of sin is declared to be penitence, confession, and amendment, and restitution for sins committed against man.

The English name for the day is not striking import; atonement is the term formed of the obsolete English verb to atone, to be made one. Sometimes, to be reconciled. Atonement is thus composed of the preposition at and the numeral one, and the suffix ment—at-one-ment.

The day will be celebrated in this city in two places of worship by the "traditionalists" temporarily at the Washington Armory Hall, next to the Portland Library; by the "progressists" at the Synagogue on Fifth street.

FIRE.—A little before ten o'clock last evening, a fire broke out in the wooden building adjoining Knapp, Burrell & Co.'s brick, on Front street. When the alarm was first sounded the fire in the upper floor of the building and the one standing next to it on the north was well going in the interior and blazing out through the shutters, lighting up all the neighborhood and impressing the spectator with the belief that there was a very large job on hand. In a very short time, however, both the hand engines were throwing water with a heavy force, and the steamers soon followed suit. Meantime the gathering crowd had begun to remove the goods from Middleton's Picture establishment, on the ground floor of the building in which the fire first broke out, to Gribbon Bros.' Boot and Shoe Store, and the stores on the block further down the street. These were all emptied in a very short time. In a moment, however, after the engines began to play, it became evident that the fire would be subdued before it could pass to any other than the two buildings. This was shortly done. The first building, belonging to Mr. Wm. Masters was damaged to the extent of the entire destruction of the upper story, and serious injury to the lower story at the rear end. The next building belonging to Mr. O. Risley was similarly injured, but not to so great an amount. Gridenbaugh's saloon was completely drenched with water, without much damage otherwise. The losses at this time remain unadjusted. Messrs. Masters, Risley and McQuillan are the principal losers, the latter having lost most of his household furniture and a portion of his stock by hasty removal. It is probable also that there was some destruction of property in the cellars in Mr. Risley's building. The fire originated in the second story of the building occupied by Mr. McQuillan. The fire department, as usual, gave an excellent experience of its readiness and efficiency.

INTERNATIONAL MONEY ORDER SYSTEM.—Postal Money Order System between the United States and Switzerland.—The Portland Post Office has been designated by the Postmaster General as one of the post offices in the United States to issue money orders, on the Postmaster of New York, payable to the beneficiaries in Switzerland, and to pay orders issued by that Postmaster for sums realized by the Postal Department of Switzerland, for payment to the beneficiaries in the United States. Hereafter no International Money Order cannot be drawn by a person in either country directly upon a postmaster in the other, but must be drawn upon the International Money Order office of the country in which the order is issued. An International Money Order must not be drawn for a larger sum than fifty dollars in United States currency. The fees are the same as for domestic money orders. Money orders drawn on the Postmaster at New York will be reduced to their value in gold coin on the day that they are received by the Postmaster at that point, and their value, less one per cent. exchange, will be paid to the drawee in Switzerland. It will be necessary for the remitter to state the given name and surname of the payee in full, the residence of the payee and drawee. The Post office in Portland is now prepared to issue money orders as above, having received the necessary blanks and books for that purpose.

TRANSPORTATION.—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Immigration and Association and Labor Exchange last evening, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Wm. H. Martin, General Agent of the International Emigrant Union, has fully set forth the aims and ends of said association, and whereas, Oregon offers a field for the emigrant to procure cheap homes and a profitable employment, be it Resolved—

1. That our association will heartily cooperate with the International Emigrant Union of Baltimore, Maryland.

2. That we pledge ourselves to look after and properly protect and care for all emigrants sent to our shores by the International Emigrant Union.

3. That we can safely promise cheap lands healthy climate, competency to the thrifty, and a hearty welcome to all emigrants.

4th. That the Secretary send a copy of these resolutions to the International Emigrant Union of Baltimore.

THE STATE FAIR.—So far as can be seen, says the Farmer, there is every reason for expecting an unusual display at the approaching State Fair. The remarkably dry [illegible] brought forward the crops to the harvest nearly a month earlier than usual, and copious rain coming after harvest was entirely over, has softened the soil so as to admit of seeding for next year's crop, and all living on the uplands, and many of those living on the plain, will have ample time to get their winter wheat into the ground, and be ready for rest and recreation, by the 11th of October. There will be more than the usual competition among mechanics with regard to plows. We hope to see an increased interest among farmers with reference to plowing, as well as to the department of stock-breeding, and the fruit, vegetables, and grain raised. Let each bring something to show, and no doubt all will go home benefitted.

TWO LEFTOVER LIGHTS FOR OUR.—The "frisky young man" of the Press calls the editor of the Unionist "Mr. October!" This is terrible! It withers and extinguishes two men at once—Sam. A. Clark and Charles Dickens, Esq. It shows the one that notwithstanding his editorial assertion, he is not beyond the reach of the arrows of "ridicule," and the other, that, though a great novelist and delineator of national idiosyncracies, he didn't know how to spell the name of one of his own principal characters. Such ignorance in Dickens was, certainly, inexcusable in the last degree. What a pity that Dickens did not number among his illustrious acquaintance the "genial factotum of the world-renowned band of "Forty Thieves." He might thus have escaped the disgrace of mistaking the "good auld Irish gluiteman," Alcibiades, for a London bred bummer.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ORO FINO THEATRE.—The "tableaux, music, etc.," advertised for this evening at Oro Fino Theatre, are not, as many have supposed, to be produced by traveling showmen. The entertainment is to be altogether a domestic production, several ladies and gentlemen of this city having originated it and engaged to carry it through. The proceeds are to be donated to a worthy public purpose. We make the announcement at the beginning of this item, for the reason that very many people had supposed it to be merely a catch-penny affair by some traveling "professional," and as such they would not be likely to patronize it. This mistake arose unintentionally, from the anonymous advertisement.

FRUIT.—The Farmer says that peaches from Walla Walla have been in Salem at Cox & Eathart's the past week. Also variety in the Cox's Golden Gling, which is said to Marion county, in the orchard of the grandfather of one of the above named firm. The best peaches which have appeared in the Portland market this season have been from the upper Columbia river. There is no portion of the State nor of the Pacific coast, better adapted to climate and soil to the growth and fine development of superior fruits than Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory. The best grapes we have seen this season, the Isabellas alone excepted, were grown in the neighborhood of the Dalles.

CAUTION AND CONDUCT.—Yesterday a man called [illegible] Orth was tried in the Recorder's court on the charge of disorderly conduct and assaulting an officer, and being found guilty was sent to jail for ten days in default of fifty dollars and costs. He had on the day before got on a bender, and making too much disturbance, an officer arrested him. He thought this an unwarrantable attack upon his inalienable right to be free and happy, so he resisted the officer, and thereby came to grief and to the city jail.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The streets now under active process of improvements are Front, from Morrison to Ash—Stark, from Second to Twelfth, and Taylor, from First to Park. We learn that some of the property holders on Front, between Madison and Main, are making an effort to have that part of the street improved by Nicolson pavement; and a petition representing a sufficient number of feet to carry the project, will probably be presented at the next meeting of the Council.

THE LARGEST QUINCE YET.—Mr. J. C. Barnes has exhibited to us another quince, much larger than the one we mentioned the other day. This latter specimen measures 13½ inches around the long way and 15 inches around the smallest circumference, and weighs fully two pounds. If anybody wants a larger quince than that, they will please send word to Mr. Barnes, and he will try to raise one to order, next year. The present season is too far gone for a successful effort in that direction.

PLAIN FIGHT.—We understand that a couple of fighting cocks of this city have within the last day or two indulged in a "mill" governed by the rules of the P. R.; but we are altogether without the details. Cant tell anything about who "went to the grass," or whose "mug" was capped, or who furnished the "claret" for the interesting occasion. These things are, however, for the getting for detail and we are glad that we don't know anything about the affair.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—BEADY, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Monday, 13th inst.:

In the matter of S. M. Black—Involuntary Bankruptcy: Hearing on order to show cause continued till Monday, 20th inst.

Court adjourned to Monday, Sept. 20th.

MEETING OF THE PIONEER CLUB is wanted on their friends at half-past four o'clock this afternoon, for practice.

TELEGRAPHIC RATES.—The editor of the New Bedford Mercury has received a letter from Geo. B. Mumford, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, in which he says: "We are making universal and extensive reductions in our tariffs, which will be put into effect as soon as the great labor of preparing and publishing new circulars for each office can be completed. These reductions will affect every rate now in use from Portland."

TARGET EXCURSION.—We are informed that the Washington Guard has resolved to have their annual target excursion and practice on Wednesday, the 29th inst. The arrangements have not progressed so far as the selection of a place, but whichever way the excursion may go, or whatever the shooting may take place, the boys at once to have a jolly good time.

ST. HELENS HALL.—We are informed that this school, which was opened on the 6th inst., has already quite a full attendance and that both pupils and patrons are highly pleased with it. All the friends of education will be pleased to learn that the very best of the ex- of its projectors.

MILITARY.—Lt. Pullman who recently graduated at West Point, a Washington Territory boy, is now in this city en route for Arizona where he has been ordered to join Capt. Kelly's Co. to which he has been assigned for duty.

PERSONAL.—We notice among the arrivals at the Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, on the 7th inst., the name of A. Bush, from New York. We presume this is Mr. Asahel Bush, of Salem.

PROMOTION.—The Albany Democrat states that Mr. John Fry, of Linn county has, this year, raised from one grain of wheat, [illegible] six stalks with 2,425 kernels.

ON DUTY AGAIN.—Deputy Marshal S. O'Hara, who has been for some time on the sick list, has recovered sufficiently to order again upon his duties.

POSTPONED.—The exhibition by the M. E. Zion Sunday School, appointed for the 15th, has been postponed to some time in the future, not fixed.

LADIES, TAKE NOTICE!—MRS. C. LESLY has just received per steamer Orizimbo, via Pacific Railroad from New York, the first shipment of STAPLE and FANCY DRY GOODS for the Fall Trade, and as they are direct from first hands she is enabled to offer them at unprecedentedly Low Prices.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP. It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbett & McGlean, R. G. Sneath and all retailers.

The Significance and Results of the State Election.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle.]

The Bulletin regards the results of the State election as "an emphatic verdict against the Fifteenth Amendment." We beg leave to differ in opinion with our contemporary. We venture to predict that when the full returns from every county shall have been received, it will be found that not three-fourths of the whole vote of the State has been polled, and that the vote lacking is all Republican. Here in San Francisco, according to the Bulletin's estimate, the total vote should be 27,000. The vote cast last year was 25,625; the vote this year is 22,000. "Thus," says the Bulletin, "from 5,000 to 6,000 votes were not cast which should have been." The votes that were not cast were undoubtedly Republican, for democrats seldom or never forego their right to vote; but in this case particularly, where Cooke immigration, naturalization and universal suffrage had been represented by demagogues as depending entirely on the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment by California, they made it their special duty to vote the Democratic legislative ticket. As in San Francisco, so in the State at large, it will be found that Republicans have failed in their duty. The cause of this, undoubtedly, has been outelessness and want of party management. But the Republicans are said to be not in the least discouraged by the result, for in politics victory often precedes defeat, and they feel sanguine that this is the last Democratic victory in California: after which, a terrible defeat will follow, which will consign that party to a political grave for ever. That remarkable event will occur after the Fifteenth Amendment shall have been adopted, as most certainly it will, independent of California.

SPEECH OF VICE PRESIDENT COLFAX,

DELIVERED AT SALEM, OREGON, SEPT. 10, 1869.

Mr. Colfax and ex-Gov. Bross came up from Portland on the stage. They were met a few miles below town by the committee of arrangements in carriages who escorted them to the Capitol about 4 o'clock P. M. Mr. Bowles, with the ladies of the party, came up the river on the steamer Albany, and on account of the unusually low stage of the water, did not arrive till 7½ o'clock P. M. At about 7 o'clock in the evening, a large concourse of citizens gathered in the Wigwam expecting a speech from Messrs. Colfax and Bross. Owing to the late arrival of the ladies of the party, the gentlemen who were to speak did not get to the Wigwam till about 8 o'clock P. M., where they found the large audience, although having waited an hour or more, still in a good humor. Mr. Colfax, being introduced by Mayor Scott, was received by the audience with the liveliest enthusiasm and said:

Ladies and Gentlemen: For a wet and inclement night and for so large an audience, who have been unreasonably waiting for me, I think you are very enthusiastic as well as very kind in your greeting. Although I have been here with my associate Gov. Bross, since the middle of the afternoon, riding through the beautiful, wide and commodious streets of your prosperous city, climbing to the top of your highest edifices, enjoying the magnificent scenery everywhere around you, the better part of our traveling company was delayed upon the sand-bars of your river; which, though unfortunately very low at this season of the year, is nevertheless a magnificent stream, rich in varied and cheerful scenery. But as the steamer has at length arrived, I am glad even at this late hour to appear before you to thank you for your enthusiastic, cordial welcome and to express my gratification at being again in your midst.

I know that among the American people, when we see one who is in public life traveling up and down the country, visiting the various States in the nation, the question naturally springs up in the minds of the many—hidden sometimes it may be in the silent thought, but often expressed in the language of the lips, "What do you come here for?" I was born so near Yankee land that I am always willing to have questions in regard to my business asked me. [Laughter.] and always willing to give frank replies. I suppose it will be of some interest to you to know why Gov. Bross and myself, after traveling so many miles by rail and stage on a former occasion to see you, have come back upon this second visit. And I will tell you frankly. In the first place we have no designs upon you—no speculation in view, no ambitious purpose to gratify. Least of all other men, why should I have any ambitious designs for my highest aspirations have already been gratified by my fellow countrymen. [Applause.] We came here to look you in the eye, to see you all again face to face, and besides this, to have those whom we love accompany us that they may have their minds instructed and enlarged by your magnificent scenery upon which we feasted our eyes and intellects four years ago. [Applause.] We can never grow tired of your grand mountains and fertile valleys, nor become too familiar with the resources of your noble young State which we are proud to remember is a portion of our own great country. Personally, I entertain a more than ordinary feeling of regard and friendship for the people of Oregon. [Applause.] And I will tell you why I bear such a friendship for this distant people in this most northwestern State of the Union. It is because I feel under obligations to this people as I do not to any other people of this Union; not even the people of the State which, in part, I had had the honor to represent so many years in the halls of our national council. Unexpectedly to me (gratifying it was at the same time) five years ago in the Republican National Convention the delegates from this State, personally unknown to me, coming from a State whose people were strangers to me, and upon whose soil I had never trodden, voluntarily and alone, presented me as the choice of your State for Vice President of the Nation. [Applause.] And again, last year, this same people through their delegates in the Chicago Convention, presented my name, and that time successfully, for the nomination for the high office which I now have the honor to occupy. Whatever may be the side for which I must answer, or which have been charged against me—and those who differ from you are pretty apt to find out your sins—no one can accuse me of the sin of hostility to principle or ingratitude to friends. This is all the reference I shall make to political matters to-night, for I am well aware that this is not a fit occasion for a political speech or for the discussion of subjects of a partisan nature. I admire those of you who differ from me in political views, that I appreciate the spirit of cordiality and respect which has induced you to honor this occasion with your presence, and I return you my sincere thanks for the interest and courtesy which you have manifested.

There is another reason why we return here. Long years ago I took my place among those who were charged with the responsibility of legislating for the whole country, and I have become deeply impressed with the necessity for accurate and more extended information among those who enact laws for the diversified interests of our great, widely extended and rapidly progressing country. Although I would much enjoy a visit to Europe and other parts of the Old World where so much historical interest centers, yet I felt that it was more fitting that I should travel over my own country and learn more thoroughly its vast continental area, its enterprising people and its illimitable resources.

Four years ago the same gentlemen who accompany me now, started with me for this coast, and after a tedious journey across the plains in the stage coach, we stood upon the shores of the Pacific; then we passed across valleys, over mountains and through canyons until we looked down upon your magnificent Wallamet valley—"the garden-spot of the northwest"—and feasted our eyes upon as charming a landscape as ever painter's pencil placed upon canvas. [Applause.] I know you are proud of this valley. I do not wonder at it. It is all you need wish it to be, and it promises a grand future for this part of the coast. I was much impressed to-day with the thought of how little I understood of this country when I looked upon the maps of it in my boyhood years. The country then had not been explored; almost nothing was then known of its geography, much less of its resources and fitness for settlement. Besides your numerous other fertile valleys I saw before me between these two ranges of mountains, a valley from 30 to 50 miles wide and 150 miles long, traversed throughout its entire length by a beautiful river with many tributaries at advantageous distances which Providence designing for some great purpose did not permit, like the Columbia, to escape through some mountain gorge to the ocean, but caused to thread its way along this noble valley to furnish a water communication and an exhaustless water power for the people who were to find homes upon its banks. Already it is the home of thousands, and who can doubt that it is destined to be the home—the happy home of hundreds of thousands of people who shall come to help build up this far-off State of the Republic? And I expect when I return here in a few years—for this is not the last visit I expect to make to these shores [applause]—I expect to see your fruitful valleys filled with farms, smiling in all the blessings which make a happy and prosperous people. [Applause.]

You have had many difficulties to contend against; but after all, few new countries have been more highly favored. Look at rugged New England, bordering upon the Atlantic seaboard and stinted in its agricultural resources, with its mountains and its rock-bound coast, and yet see how energy and industry have triumphed over the adverse forces of nature. It is not thus with you. Providence has smiled upon you in these north-west regions; given you these resources, these capabilities, these opportunities, these fertile lands and rich mineral veins, and the duty of the hour for the people of Oregon is development. That is the word which is to bring triumph, power and happiness to you in the swift coming years of the near future. All you want is population and labor. I know right well, as you do, why this population has not come to you. It is because those who emigrate are the men who seek to better their condition—who seek a home for themselves and their families—whom some adverse fortune has deprived of a competency, and perhaps left in a state of destitution—these men with iron wills, with strong arms, willing hearts—willing to struggle and to labor—go where the best opportunities are offered for the least cost of travel. You have been most distant from the more populated portions of the world. Thousands of miles intervene between the Atlantic and the Pacific, which could only be traversed at great expense of time and money. The Pacific Railroad will inaugurate a new era. More railways will be built. Men of influence of all political parties will visit you and make known your resources abroad. The cost of reaching you will be greatly reduced and population will flow in upon you to make your "waste places blossom as the rose."

I was thinking to-day of the condition a little more than a century ago, of what is now the American Republic. A century is but a space—but a breath in the counsels of Him who holds our destiny in the hollow of His hand. At that time there was but a feeble band of people on the Atlantic seaboard, in a strange land separated from home by a wide ocean. Like them, you, upon this coast, during the last thirty years, have been struggling with the savage for an existence. You were separated from home by a wide expanse of territory inhabited only by wild beasts and wild men. As they on the Atlantic had their Maine from which to build their ships, so you have your Washington Territory. But the comparison is much to your advantage. Their land was less fruitful than yours; it was more sterile and barren than yours. They were then feeble colonies, dependent subjects; you are a part and parcel of a powerful nation, and you are independent freemen—dependent upon no one in this land or on any other land beneath the sun. [Applause.] They had then nothing but the rudest kind of implements of industry; now you have the great labor and time saving inventions of the age—the water power with which you can do the work of a thousand men, and the machinery with which the one arm of the farmer can do the work of a score.

Need I pursue this parallel further? Look at the triumph that has been achieved under such adverse circumstances on the Atlantic and foreseen in it what may be the triumphs of these States bordering upon the most magnificent ocean in the world. You front upon this great ocean; you are the only civilized and maritime people in all its thousands of miles of coast. There is to be inconceivable wealth in the trade and in the commerce with the lands beyond the sea. You may expect to supply the oldest and most populous kingdoms of the world with your manufactures, and, eventually with breadstuffs also. Trade among the ancient empires of history has always been lucrative, even with the caravan. What may you not expect it to be with modern shipping? They are already copying your institutions; their prejudices are melting away, and your commerce with them will increase as their civilization increases their necessities.

And let me add one thing more. I can say most truthfully, that of all the States in which I have traveled from one end of the Republic to the other (and I have traveled in all of them) I know of no State that offers such inducements to the poor man, if he can arrive here, as this State of Oregon, upon whose soil I am speaking to-night. [Applause.]

There is one thing in connection with this Pacific Coast which strikes me as singularly providential. I believe in my heart of hearts that it was designed by Providence for some great purpose. You know how little money there was in our country twenty years ago, when all at once the discovery of the rich mines upon this coast burst upon us, developing vast mineral wealth in a country before considered of little value, and attracting hither people from every direction and from every nation. Now, can you tell me why those mountains of granite were opened and those rich seams of gold and silver were deposited in them before "the morning stars sang together"? When we remember the history of the nations of the earth, we cannot doubt that an overruling Providence has directed them for the accomplishment of His own ends. I believe that that same Providence intended this to be the richest nation of the world. This accidental discovery of the precious metals acted like magic in populating these shores, the greater part of which we had but recently acquired. People came overland in caravans; they came by ship around the Horn; from all lands they came, but most of them were citizens of our own Republic. And here on the shores of this ocean they founded these States. Although gold was at first the attraction, it is now discovered that wheat, and wool and wine—the products of the soil—for which this coast is to be distinguished are more valuable than the gold mines. They came here for gold, and they founded here magnificent States in which gold is not the first but, perhaps, only the fourth product in value.

I know how in times past it has been the labor of your delegations in Congress to make known your just claims upon the General Government. You have but five votes in the House of Representatives. I have seen them struggle ineffectually oftentimes, because the great majority associated with them knew nothing practically about your country, and could not understand its capabilities, its resources and its necessities. I rejoice that the time has at length come when you will be better known and appreciated. [Applause.]

I would extend these remarks further, but I am wearied by travel and do not wish to detain you too long. I came here, as I said in the outset, to enjoy your beautiful scenery. We go on in the morning through your valleys, and will pass over the mountains and valleys to California. But when I turn my back upon you, I can say truthfully it will be only my back and not my heart; for my heart will ever be warm for your genial hospitality. I sincerely wish you all the prosperity you can desire.

One thing more before I leave you. There is one principle upon which you can build as an enduring corner-stone, and without it there will be no prosperity for any nation or State. That principle is JUSTICE TO ALL MEN. That is the sublime motto of our Republic. It might be written upon our shield. It is breathed in our institutions, enacted in our public laws, and cherished in the hearts of our countrymen. It is this principle which nerves the heart of the poor man as he struggles for a livelihood and makes him proud to be an American. Elsewhere you find Courts, Dukes, and men of Kingly birth; but in this land of ours you find a sovereign in the humble tiller of the soil. Every man throughout our land is a sovereign. Every man, poor though he may be, however humble may have been his birth, is heir apparent under our constitution to the highest honors that the American people can bestow. [Great applause.] Such is the political condition of every man in this wonderful land of ours. It is a land stretching from ocean to ocean. It is a land which reaches to Asia on the one hand and to Europe on the other. It is a land whose productions and resources are beyond calculation. Go with me, if you will, to the Mississippi valley, where you can raise enough corn to feed a thousand millions and then have to spare! Look at the cotton fields of the South, where you can produce enough material to clothe the world! Who can estimate the capacity of the immense water-power—facilities for manufactories—all over our land! Look at our history! Where can you find a land which can go through such a mighty struggle, where the earth shook under the tread of mighty armies, and yet scarcely pause in its onward career of greatness? Where is the land which beckons the oppressed of all other lands to come and find a home under its' tree of liberty, where he can enjoy the full fruits of his own labor? Where is the land that lays down the principle and fortifies it by arms, that every man who is competent shall have a voice in his own government? What other nation of our population had an influence equal to ours upon surrounding nations? These achievements, these characteristics, are due in no small degree to that great principle of justice to all men. And don't you know that it is this principle illustrated in this Republic of ours which is ringing throughout the old world to-day, compelling England to yield to more liberal principles. Look at France! There is but one man—and he standing upon the edge of the grave—between imperialism and revolution. Nothing but the name of Napoleon prevents France from striking for republican principles to-day. There is nothing more certain than that if the empire could be overthrown France would be a Republic. How is it with Spain? Here where the Bourbons have been so long entrenched upon the throne, liberal principles have penetrated and the hereditary monarchy is to be superceded by an elective one. Thus falls the cherished principle of "the Divine right of Kings." Look at Prussia, Austria and Italy, where religious liberty is moving on apace. And Russia, where the Czar at one blow struck the shackles from the feet of millions of serfs. Don't you see the triumphant march of liberty, whose leaven of equal justice is pervading the oldest nations of the world? Let us be faithful to this principle of justice, faithful to our heritage, and we shall yet bring the monarchies of the old world into the path of liberty and fulfill our destiny, taking a place in the van of nations—freed from the curses of despotism—and leading them to the full enjoyment of the fruits of liberty. [Prolonged applause.]

At the close of Mr Colfax's remarks Gov. Bross was introduced to the audience and made a very interesting speech, which was received with frequent applause.

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq., Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value. Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of the Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S. Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas. A. White is a practical surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made.
